We understand that those merchants who were appealed to responded most liberally, and if a large sum is not raised it is because personal ap-plications have not been made to them. From the best pileations have not been made to them. From the best light the portion of the committee had who met, it apears there is about $5,800 subscribed, about one-third of which is in the form of grain, flour and other provisions. This sum will doubtless be swelled to $8,000 before the end of the week. A letter has been received from Alexandria, Va., promising five hundred bushels of grain from a mercantile house there. It is to be transmitted immediately to Theodere Perry, Secretary of the Corn Exchange, who will receive all similar consignments from any part of the country, and the freight will be paid therefor. The grain will be seat unground, as there are plenty of facilities in the De Verde islands for grinding are plenty of facilities in the De Verde islands for grinding it. The committee have received a number of anonymous subscriptions, one of $100 from a "Poor Man," besides a number of $10, $5 and $2. The first vessel laden with provisions will be despatched during the first week in June.

CHURCH FOR THE DEAF MUTES .- A number of our cit's an are zealously aiding the Rev. T. Gallaudet in his efforts to establish a church for the deaf mutes, and a grand concert will be given at the Academy of Music to-morrow evening, 22d inst., to increase the fund. Were it but a measure of municipal economy, all educational views for the deaf and blind should be liberally forwarded; but in this particular isstance the claim on benevolence is of the strongest possible kind. The blind can enjoy the benefits of divine worship at any church, but the deaf can receive them only through the "sign language." And what family is there into which some immortal soul may not be born to need the instructions of the church which this concert is intended to aid? Mille Eliza Valentini, to whom belongs the credit of originating the concert, will be assisted by two of her pupils, Mrs. Sheehan and Madame De Lussan, who are said to have volces of remarkably fine power. Miss H. Fanning Read, the lady who has so eften ceilghted New York audiences with her renderings of Shakspers, will recite the last scene from the "Medea," a tragedy, of which she is the authorest. Mons. Halma, a violinist of note, and Max Mareizek, as conductor of the orchestra, will add greatly to the success of this occasion.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY AS SOCIATION.—The lecture room attached to Clinton Hall was the seeme of no little riot and confusion last night, was the seeme of no little riot and confusion last night, among the junior members of the Mercastile Library Association. The election for officers was held during the day, and the members repaired in the svening te the lecture room to hear the result announced. As the tecounting of the ballots took nearly two hours, the interval was occupied by the representatives of Young America who were present, in shouting, screaming, roaring, and making all kinds of hideeus noises. Tin pans were introduced, penny whistles brought into play, with violent stamping by way of variety. At leagth the cushions were taken from the seats and hurled about the room in every direction, putting out the lights and raising a cloud of dust. The cushions were taken from the seats and hurled about the reom in every direction, putting out the lights and raising a cloud of dust. The cushions were taken from the armchairs in a neighboring room, and for a time were kept flying about the sir in a most astonishing manner. At length the lights were put out, and the young gentlemen were compelled to resire. There was no fighting or hard words used—all were in a good humor, though the fun was of a very rough character. For officers there were about 550 votes thrown. SUICIDE BY HANGING.—Coroner Hills held an inquest at Ward's Island, upon the body of a man named Henry Burns, who committed suicide by hanging himself in the paint shop attached to workhouse on the above mentioned island. The deceased, it appeared, had for a long time past been a pauper on the island, and was of late quite low spirited. He was once very well off, and was the owner of some valuable real estate in the city of Dublin, Ireland, but became quite poor on coming to this country, and was deeply affected at his poverty. The jury in this case rendered a verdict of "Suicide by hanging." Deceased was 64 years of age, and was a native of Ireland.

The deceased, irr mexternal appearances, was a laborer or mechanic. Verdict, "Death from unknown causes, sup-posed to be drowning."

An unknown han, about thirty-nee years of age, was found drowned, yesterday afternoon, at the Hamilton avenue ferry slip. Coroner Hills held an inquest upon the body of the deceased, when a verdict of "Death from some causes unknown to the jury" was rendered. The deceased had been in the water about three months. The body was much decomposed; all the flesh about the head and arms had been washed off, so a description of the features could not be given by the Coroner.

The Chances of the Three Talkes of Condidates, as Considered in Washington.

Those who imagine that a selection will not be made at Cincinnati from the three Northern candidates whose names are prominently mentioned—Pierzs, Buckenna and Bouglas—are either not as fall with the facts, or they have not considered the subject carefully. A two acts and a moment's reflection will demonstrate that at the approaching Convention there can be no recurrence of the scenes enacted at Baltimore four years age.

In the first place we assume it as a position which same the controverseld, that although Mr. Plarce will obtain

In the first place we assume it as a position which esamet be controverted, that although Mr. Pierce will obtain a complimentary vote from the South, and Judge Douglas is really the choice of a large majerity of the Southern delegates, yet that Mr. Buchanan would also be acceptable to them. The South, no matter what their individual preferences, are so little wedded to them at this time, that they will accept either of the gentleman named. We hold that whenever a sufficient number of Northern votes can be obtained by any one of these candidates, the bouth will in a body go for that man. For instance, Governor Howall Cobb, of Georgia, is strongly for Mr. Buchanan as his first choice, but he does not hesitate to awow that Judge Douglas would be acceptable to his State. Prominent men in Virginia have made the same remark. South Carolina occupies the same ground as between Pierce and Douglas, though the same ground as between Pierce and Douglas, though Mr. Keitt, one of the most chivalrous sons of that chivalrous State, is for Douglas, as his first and last choice. We merely mention names to show that we have understand what motive induced that body to do anything so apparently contrary to the wishes of their pet institution; but so it was. The charter was granted for a railread from the Raritan Bay to Delaware Bay, running nearly lengthwise of the State, and capable of a connection with the Camden and Absecum Road for Philadelphia. The ultimate object of the charter was to form a line to Norfolk, Virginia, and the Southern cities. During the year which has elapsed, there has been some controversy as to the terminus upon Raritan Bay to be chosen. A few weeks since it was decided to locate at Port Mommouth Ausse, butle a year or two ago. Accordingly, yesterday the ceremony of breaking ground on the proposed line took place with considerable parade. The steamer Eagle carried down a body of our citizens who feel interested in the project, accompanied by Dedworth's Band. Some four or five thousand of the East Jersey people were assembled, and a general interest was manifested.

After a pleasant hour and a haif's ride they landed at chivairous State, is for Douglas, as his first and lass choice. We merely mention names to show that we have investigated the subject, and are giving the result of actual observation and inquiry.

After a pleasant hour and a half's ride they landed at the dock at Fort Mommouth, and marched in line, preceded by the band, until they arrived at the ground where the railroad was to commence.

The South, therefore, with its 150 electoral votas, being prepared to support any man the North will present, with sufficient strength, the important inquiry arises as to the relative strength of the three gentlemen named in the North. For if the premises are correctly taken, we maintain that the candidate who can present the largest number of votes—if added to the South, sufficient to make up the two-thirds, or 198 electoral votes, must and inevisably will receive the nomination.

Mr. Buchanan's friends claim for him Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan, California and New York, because there is no probability that any compromise will be effected between the two sets of delegates. And, even if there were, it is evident upon the best showing, Mr. Buchana could not get more than a third of the votes. Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan and California, represent forty-four alectoral votes.

Mr. Pierce's friends claim Massachuretts, New Hampshire, Consectiont, Maine, Rhode Island, representing thirty-six electoral votes.

Judge Douglas' friends claim Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Vermont and Wisconsin, all doubt as to the latter State having been removed. These States represent skriy-two electoral votes.

Mr. Bright answers for Indiana going for Douglas, and Meesen, Medary, Pugh, &c., give the same guarantee as to Ohio.

If these figures are correctly stated, and their accuracy cannot be controverted over any responsible signature, it follows that it would require but a small portion electoral votes.

Mr. Torrey, in behalf of the President of the road made a few brief remarks, and then introduced the Rev. Mr. Roberts, who made an appropriate prayer.

Governor Price was then called to break the ground which he did in a very democratic manner. Ex-Racorder Tallmadge was then called. Chief of Police Markell was called for, but in the language of the chief, his "extreme modesty" had to excuse him.

The laddes present were then appealed to, when Missos Torrey and Tracy responded and threw into the barrow a quantity of elay.

After the exercises, a dinner given by the directors of the new company to their guests was served at the Port Mosmouth Hotel, at which elever after-dinner responses were made by the Governor, Recorder, Judge Leighton, of Maryland, and others.

Of the importance of this line of railway, when finished, there can be no doubt. By it the communication between Charlestop and this city would be reduced one half, and that with New Orleans nearly one-third; it being estimated that transit to New Orleans can be effected in four days. It will also—running within a few miles of the shore—afford a most importance, it may be multied to the shipping interest, in permitting the furnishing of relief to stranked vessels in a length of time now almost impossible. As a third matter of importance, it may be mentioned that access will be given cur citizens to the watering places of the eastern shore of New Jersey—Long Branch, Atlantic City, Cape May, &c.—in a very abort time of transit.

The most ranguise expectations seem to be exteriained, that at least the northern portion of the road will be progressed with without delay, and that no considerable huadrance will be met in running through the entire route to Norfolk. Charters have been already passed by the States of Delaware, Maryland and Virginis, for the connection; and we do not doubt that through it the great chain of communication between the North and the South will be even unally made far more enduring.

The Raritan Bay terminus, Port Monmouth, has been Narrowing Down the Platform.

The Union is hard at work narrowing down the democratic platform. It sticks to the task daily with great pertinacity. The first thing to be done is to horn off "Old Buck," and the next to make the Kansas and Ne-"Old Buck," and the next to make the Kansas and Ne-brasaka bill in all its stages a test. It would be a curious proposition for the Union to answer, whether, after suc-ceeding in getting rid of Buchanan because he was not in the Nebraska fight, it could prevent the same rule from being applied to hundreds of thousands of people whe occupied precisely the same predicament. Or does the Union intend foreing its favorite upon the democracy, knowing that he cannot be elected but simply that he may be endorsed by a renomination, a luxury for which the democracy will have to pay the cost in a grand smash up from one end of the Union to the other? We smash up from one end of the Union to the other? We notice that the Portland Argus, a quiet Yankee newspa-per, published away off in Maine, pays its respects to the Union after this fashion:-If under the amnesty once proclaimed by the Deion

If under the amnesty once proclaimed by the Union any Northern democrat ever doubted as to the policy of introducing the Nebraska bill into the last Congress, we are sure there are no members of the party now in its organization who do not cordially endorse its principle and who do not denounce all thought of agitating for its repeal.

The repeal of the Nebraska bill is not an issue which the opposition dere present. Its great principle is almost beyond attack; but whatever credit there is in sustaining it, is not a monopoly for the personal benefit of any man. We protest against any such narrow and selfish doctrine as that, whether in office or out of office, whether distinguished or obscure, whether living at the South er North; any man who honestly and faithfully maintains the principles of the party is as good a democrat, and as much entitled to regard and consideration as such, as any other man in the Union.

That is what we call hard sense; but it will have very little effect upon the Washington Union. That paper

That is what we call hard sense; but it will have very little effect upon the Washington Union. That paper seems to know as much of the public opinion of the sountry as it does of the public opinion in some distant planet, or of the ruling party in Japan. While complaining that Old Buck's friends are attacking the President, it keeps its sharp knife constantly at work, attacking him under the fifth rib, by pretending to be friendly to him. The Boston Post joins in the hus and ory, and also wants to narrow down the platform. That is a business at which the Boston Post is proficient. The party is keptermall in Massachusetts, so that the offices may never get out of a single circle; and if only the Post can force Pierce upon the track, and get the South to help it in the work, Greene and his coadjutors think they can hold one to the offices, because Penneylvania, the old Consetogs team horse, will do the work, shoulder the responsibility, and elect the nominee, wheever he is.

How the outsiders laugh at these attempts to capture the Buchauan fortrees, with the pop-gues and small arms of the administration. There will be rare sport in the Democratic National Convention.

Richmond Democratic District Convention—Appointment of Delegates to Cincinnati—Speech of the Hon James A. Sedden, formerly Member of Congress from this District.

The Democratic Convention for this (Sixth) district met here yes!erday to appoint two desegates and two alternates to the Cincinnati Convention. The attendance was very large, and so far as I could glean, from the tone of the Convention, the sentiment seemed strongly in favor of Buchanan. The chief managers, however, by adroit planning and preconcerted arrangements, succeeded in securing the election of one delegate in favor of Hunter; but I can safely say, notwithstanding, that the feeling of the district is with Buchanan. The Convention assembled about 12 o'clock M., and organised by appointing Dr. Abner Crump, of Powhatan, to the chair, and Wm. F. Ritchie and R. W. Hughes, of

to the chair, and Wm. F. Ritchie and R. W. Bughes, of the Enquirer and Enuminer, secretaries.

The usual preliminary of calling over the several counties composing the district, with a view to assertain the number of delegates present from each, having been gone through, a resolution was offered by Mr. Roam A. Paron, editor of the Enquirer, authorizing the Chair te appoint a committee of one from each county to draft resolutions for the considerable debate, some preferring that the delegates from each county should choose from among their number the individual who was to represent that particular county in the committee. The preferences of the Chair were understood to be for Hunter, and hease this effort on the part of Buchanan's friends to make up the committee in the form just indicated.

The following is the result of their deliberations, which shows that the whole thing was nothing more than a "tempest in a teaport":—

Resolved, That this Couvention re-affirm the principles sm-bedied in the resolutions of the late democratic Bane Convention.

Resolved, That the principles herestore acted upon, of requiring a two-third voic to make a nomination by the Rational Convention is just and wise, and should not be departed from on any present whitever.

Resolved, That it in the sense of this Convention, that the vote of the State shall be cast at the Cincinnati Convention is accordance with past usages.

The Convention adopted these resolutions.

Mr. R. B. Haarn, a lawyer of this city, offered a resolution to the effect that the Convention offer an expression of its choice as between the leading candidates for the Presidency, without giving any instructions to the delegates.
